

GOD IS AT WORK

...among international students
New ministries are growing around the country!

Three new international student chapters were planted this year at the University of Memphis, University of Oregon, and University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill. One staff writes, "One man from China said for 23 years he did not hear about God. Now, just after 2 months, he thinks differently. He has felt something in his heart when people spoke of God. He loves to listen to worship music all the time now because it gives him peace. He is very hungry to understand what to do with all these new thoughts and experiences."

- One staff had a dream to buy a house for ministry near her campus. This Fall the “Pink House” opened its doors to students at North Dakota State University. The chapter is experiencing its largest outreach on campus ever with over 100 students from 20 countries coming to the weekly event.
- More than 100 international students from Alabama, Mississippi and Tennessee attended the first ever InterVarsity international student conference in the Deep South, greatly exceeding expectations. One participant exclaimed “The conference wasn’t good. It was SOOO good!”

THANK YOU FOR YOUR PARTNERSHIP with our staff around the country.

God is using them to transform students,
renew the campuses and develop world changers!
